Use Joomla to manage your school website

Are you interested in changing your school website over to the Joomla Website Content Management System? Or maybe you haven't yet got a website, and are looking for the best option for your school? Would you like to be able to manage your own website content, rather than having to get a web developer to make even minor changes? Perhaps you would like the ability to have several, or even all, staff contribute content - without needing specialised web development skills?

Learn how to:

- Create new content articles
- Categorise dynamic content
- Create a menu system, including flyout menus
- Change the look of the site with templates
- Manage users
- Administer modules
- Use the Media Manager

What's Moodle?

- create and administer classes
- add resources such as web pages for content, links to files and to web pages, and labels for explanations
- Add activities such as assignments, forums, glossaries and quizzes
